During the Initial Term the Customer is also not allowed to switch to a Product or Service modality of a lower monetary value or with lower priced fees.
- IV. "Operational Support": refers exclusively to the Software not being operational. The Supplier offers free Operational Support 24/7 during the whole duration of the Agreement and according to clause 2 of the General License Terms and Schedule(s). The Operational Support does not include support on e.g., validation warnings/errors, mapping, or general questions.

| 1.2 | The Supplier makes the necessary software available for the continuous operation of the Software. |
| 1.3 | To the extent specified in clause 2 below, the Supplier shall oversee and handle the operation, remedial actions, backup, hotline, maintenance, upgrading, and updating of the Software. |
| 1.4 | The Customer and its authorized users must use the Software by Supplier's instructions, user manuals (if applicable), and the Agreement. |

- 2.2 The Supplier shall, in no case, be liable for any interruptions in the operation that may occur in the transmission of data between the Supplier's operation's center and the Customer, the Customer's internet domain(s), or authorized users, unless such interruptions are directly caused by errors in the Software.
- 2.3 The Supplier offers support by email, website, and phone as agreed in the applicable Order. The Supplier does not offer in-house support.
- 2.4 Subject to clause 2.6 below, the Supplier must remedy identified errors concerning the Software. Critical errors such as unavailability of the Software or minimal availability shall be remedied without undue delay. Non-critical errors shall be remedied within a reasonable period after observation and logging with the Supplier.

- 2.4.1 The Supplier, case-by-case, will define response and resolution times upon receiving an issue report. Such response and resolution time shall be informed to the Customer without undue delay.
- 2.5 If errors in third-party software are observed, and such errors cannot be remediated or minimized by the Supplier, the Supplier is only obligated to inform the manufacturer of the error, encouraging the manufacturer to remedy the defective software within a reasonable period.
- 2.5.1 In the event of critical errors or errors that significantly reduce the use of the Software for the Customer, the Supplier will use best efforts to create a temporary "workaround" and minimize the impact on the Customer.
- 3. If the Customer reports defects in the Software to the Supplier and it is later documented that the defect is not caused by errors in the Software but is caused by the Customer's mistake, misuse, defective communication lines, or any similar errors beyond the Supplier's control or responsibility, the remedial action shall fall into Product Support and its costs shall be borne by the Customer. The Supplier will then be entitled to a fee based on the time spent at the Supplier's current hourly rates. ADMINISTRATION
- 3.1 The Customer's Contact Person
- 3.1.1 The Customer shall appoint a contact person (the "Customer's Contact Person") who shall act as a contact person for the Supplier. - 4.3.2.1 The Suspension Period: (i) is temporary, (ii) will last until the Customer presents proof of the full payment of any outstanding amount (incl. default interest and administrative costs, Product Support, and Additional Services), (iii) will be deducted from the current License Period, (iv) it might comprise more than one License Period, and (iii) will not be credited or refunded to the Customer.
- 4.4 All amounts specified in the Agreement are exclusive of VAT and other taxes.
- 4.4.1 No tax is imposed in any jurisdiction in which is ordinarily resident for tax by withholding or deduction or otherwise on any payment to be made under this Agreement. All payments made under this Agreement will not be subject to income, withholding, or other taxes under laws and regulations of the Customer's country of residence or any political subdivision or taxing authority thereof or therein and will otherwise be free and clear of any other tax, duty, withholding or deduction in the Customer's country of residence or any political subdivision or taxing authority thereof or therein and without the necessity of obtaining any governmental authorization.

5. PERSONAL DATA

- 5.1 The Supplier does not collect, process, or store sensitive personal data on behalf of the Customer and/or its authorized users.
- 5.2 To communicate with the Customer, the Supplier will store contact information (name, job title, phone number, and work email) from the Customer's contact persons and others that are or will be communicating with the Supplier on behalf of the Customer, before, during or after the term of this Agreement.
- 5.3 To allow the Customer to use the Supplier's Software, the Supplier might collect and archive contact information (name and work email) of the Customer's authorized users that will need a login to the Supplier's Software. The need for it will depend on how the login credentials will be created: through the Supplier or single sign-on (SSO). Logins to the Software are individual and non-transferable.
- 5.4 The Supplier has no access to any data uploaded to the Software by the Customer and/or its authorized users. The Software automatically erases all the data uploaded by the Customer and/or their authorized users after fifteen (15) minutes from their upload into the Software.
- 5.5 Supplier fully complies with the General Data Protection Regulation (EU Regulation 2016/679 of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons about the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data ("GDPR")).
- 5.6 Processing of Personal Data by the Supplier on behalf of the Customer will be done exclusively related to the agreed Products and Services, according to the Customer's instructions, for the duration of the Agreement and after that, if and for the duration, it is required by applicable law.
- 5.7 The Supplier's processing of personal data on behalf of the Customer will be regulated by the Supplier's standard Data Processing Agreement, which the Supplier makes available to the Customer with this General License Terms.
- 5.8 The Supplier has made such reasonable technical and organizational arrangements deemed necessary to guarantee that any data uploaded in the databases of the Software (i) is not accidentally or unlawfully destroyed, lost or impaired, (ii) is not communicated to any third parties, (iii) is not wrongly processed and (iv) is not otherwise processed by the Supplier in conflict with the GDPR or the Danish Data Protection Act (in Danish: "Databeskyttelsesloven").

6. WARRANTIES

- 6.1 The Supplier warrants to the Customer that the Software in essential will work accordingly for the purposes of this Agreement.

- 6.5 The Customer warrants to the Supplier that the Customer does not use the Software for collection, registration, storage, processing, or manipulation of data in violation of any applicable legislation, including that the Customer has obtained all required permits from public authorities, etc., concerning the implied collection, storage, and use, etc. of data. The Customer warrants that the Customer will not, at any time, create non-authorized user accounts or permit third party's non-authorized users to access the Software on its behalf or for its benefit.
- 6.6 Considering: (i) XBRL mapping is subjective and to a certain degree based on interpretation and (ii) Customer can either perform mapping himself using our "ESEF tagger" or make changes after initial mapping is done by Supplier when Supplier is performing the mapping, Supplier will apply industry best practice, knowledge, and experience, but Customer is aware that Supplier's mapping is provided on an advisory basis and that due to the evolving nature of best practices and taxonomies, a mapping suggestion can change from year to year and even in the middle of a period.
- 6.7 Supplier does not warrant that the Software will be able to convert any report and has no other obligation than inform and guide Customers when and if it happens. It is the Customer's responsibility to correct their files, upload, and convert them again. Conversion inconsistencies in the iXBRL report can be caused by, including but not limited to: (i) graphic glitches due to designer flaws; (ii) incompatible fonts and (iii) incompatible document layout, etc.

7. RIGHTS OF OWNERSHIP AND USE

- 7.1 Within the scope of the Agreement, the Customer acquires a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable right to access and use the Software and the agreed Products and Services (acc. applicable Order and Schedule(s)) provided by the Supplier for the exclusive purpose set up in the Agreement. Neither the Customer nor its authorized users have the right or the Supplier's authorization to use the Software outside the scope and limits of this Agreement.
- 7.2 The Customer and its authorized users are not allowed, under any circumstances, to modify, copy, extract, deconstruct, incorporate, share and/or allow the use, share login information/account, sell, distribute, license, give access to third parties to use the Software and/or any of the Software's components, tangible and/or intangible assets and aspects whatsoever for any reason, projects, activities, or purposes whatsoever.

It may also lead to the Supplier's pursuit of legal actions.
- 7.3 The Supplier has and will maintain the full, undivided, and unrestricted rights of ownership and/or use of all aspects and assets of the Software, and the Products and Services. The Supplier also has and will maintain the full, undivided, and unrestricted rights of ownership and/or use of the user manuals, reporting formats, training material, and other tangible and intangible aspects, assets, and knowhow which the Supplier has developed, is developing or which the Supplier subsequently may (perhaps in cooperation with the Customer) develop for the use of the Software.
- 7.4 The Customer has and will maintain the full, undivided, and unrestricted rights to all its data collected and uploaded to the Software in a License Period.
- 7.5 Nothing in this Agreement is intended nor shall intend or imply any transfer, creation, or assignment of property rights, primarily intellectual property rights of the Supplier's software, products, and services to the Customer or to anyone, including without limitation: the Supplier's Software, all its related assets, aspects, and material through the Customer's usage of them, Products and Services, knowhow which the Supplier has developed, is developing, or which the Supplier subsequently may (perhaps in cooperation with the Customer) develop related or not with the Products and Services.

- 8.1 For the purposes of this Agreement, "Confidential Information" means all non-public business-related information, written or oral, disclosed or made available by a Party ("Disclosing Party") to the other Party ("Recipient"), directly or indirectly, through any means of communication or observation including but not limited to: the content of this Agreement and to the Supplier's Software, Products and Services, other software, and all its aspects, all intellectual property, strategic business information, certificates, audit reports, financial statements or projections, business plans, prototypes, drawings, data, trade secrets, business records, customer lists, supplier agreements, partnership, the Agreement's content, marketing plans, employee lists, policies and procedures, information relating to processes, security information, non-public personal data, technologies developed or to be developed or theory and any other information which may be disclosed by the Disclosing Party to the Recipient in relation with the Agreement.
- 8.2 Each Party is obligated to observe unconditional secrecy concerning any information exchanged between the Parties in connection to the Agreement, including information about the Customer's users and personal passwords and user IDs used to control access to the Software. The information about the Customer's users must only be used to properly handle the Supplier's administrative obligations concerning the Software and the Supplier's provision of the Products and Services.
- 8.3 The Supplier is obligated to treat data uploaded into the Software by the Customer as Confidential Information that may not be copied, reproduced, or released, in whole or in part, to any third party not affiliated with the Supplier without the written consent of the Customer. The Supplier is obligated to ensure that the Supplier's employees and subcontractors having access to the Software are subject to at least the same confidentiality obligations.
- 8.4 The obligations herein in this clause 8 shall survive and remain in effect after termination of the Agreement for as long as the Recipient possesses the Disclosing Party's Confidential Information.
- 8.5 Right to retention: If a Party is required to retain the other Party's Confidential Information by law, court, or internal compliance policy, it must comply with this clause 8. Retained Confidential Information shall always remain confidential and shall not be disclosed or used without the previous written consent of the Disclosing Party.
- 8.6 Non-Disclosure obligation:
- 8.6.1 The Recipient acknowledges the competitive value and confidential nature of the Confidential Information and the damages that would result to the Disclosing Party if any Confidential Information were disclosed.
- 8.6.2 The Recipient ensures that it will not use the Confidential Information in any way other than what this Agreement allows and/or the provision or enjoyment of the Product and Services requires.
- 8.6.3 The Customer is not allowed to disclose the Supplier's Confidential Information to any legal entity other than the one signatory of this Agreement, whether affiliated or not, unless previously agreed in writing by the Supplier.
- 8.6.4 The Recipient shall: (i) always keep the Information confidential; (ii) use the same degree of care to avoid unauthorized disclosure of the Confidential Information as it employs concerning its information which it does not desire to disclose; (iii) always use at least all reasonable means to avoid unauthorized disclosure of information; and (iv) only disclose Confidential Information within its group of companies on a need-to-know basis and/or as required by law or necessary to fulfil a legal obligation/requirement.
- 8.6.5 Confidential Information made available under the Agreement and copies thereof shall, upon request, be deleted or returned at the earlier of either six (6) months after the Agreement is terminated or when the Party owning the relevant Confidential Information makes such a request in writing. An exception is made to Confidential Information that must be retained to ensure a Party's compliance with its applicable laws and regulations.

- 8.7 The confidentiality specified in clause 8 shall survive after the termination of the Agreement.

9. EFFECTIVE DATE AND TERMINATION

- 9.1 The Agreement's Effective Date is specified in the applicable Order.

- 9.2 The Customer subscribes to the agreed Products and Services (acc. to applicable Order and Schedule(s)) for the term as specified in the Order. If an Initial Term has been agreed upon, the Agreement will be effective for such Initial Term and, after that, the Agreement will be automatically renewed in its exact terms, for one (1) License Period at the time, unless terminated by either Party.

- 9.3 If an Initial Term has not been agreed upon, this Agreement will remain in effect for one (1) License Period at a time and will be automatically renewed in its exact terms, for a subsequent new License Period each time, unless terminated by either Party.

- 9.4 If an Initial Term has been agreed upon, the Customer cannot terminate the Agreement by convenience during the agreed Initial Term. During the Initial Term the Customer is also not allowed to switch to a Product or Service modality of a lower monetary value or with lower priced fees.

- 9.5 After the Initial Term, or in the absence of an Initial Term, the Agreement can be terminated, by convenience, by either Party without further penalty, obligation, or liability to either Party, by giving three (3) month's written notice to the other Party. To prevent the Agreement from auto renewing, such written termination notice must be provided three (3) months before the end of the current License Period.

- 9.5.1 The Customer's right to terminate this Agreement by convenience is conditioned to the Customer not having any outstanding balance related to the Products and Services (incl. support, default interest, administrative costs, etc.) with the Supplier.

- 9.6 As the Supplier's Products and Services are not based on a monthly subscription, no refund will be issued unless the Supplier terminates the Agreement by convenience.

- 9.6.1 If the Supplier terminates the Agreement by convenience, the Supplier will refund the annual fee to the Customer proportionally to the time left on the current License Period only if the Customer has already paid the annual fee for the current License Period and has not used the Software for the purposes specified in the Agreement, as for example (i) converted its annual report, if a customer for the XBRL Converter or (ii) inspected any annual report, if a customer for the XBRL Inspector, etc.

- 9.7 The Supplier is not obligated to refund any part of the activation fee if the activation of the Software has already been launched or completed.

- 9.8 There will be no refund if the Supplier terminates the Agreement due to the Customer's material breach of the Agreement.

- 9.9 If the Customer terminates the Agreement, the Customer will not be reimbursed for any prepaid fees or payments made to the Supplier before the Customer terminated the Agreement unless the termination is due to a Supplier's material breach of the Agreement, in which case the proportional refund is mentioned in 9.6.1 applies.

- 9.10 The Supplier may terminate this Agreement with immediate effect and without further penalty, obligation, or liability to the Supplier, but against a full refund to the Customer of any pre-paid fees (if any) by giving written notice to the Customer if there is an issue in the Customer's files that cannot be fixed by the Parties during the activation of the Software and/or if there is any other reason that makes it not possible for the Supplier to provide the agreed Products and Services.

- 9.11 With effect from the date of termination, all licenses shall terminate, and the Customer's right to use the Software will lapse, as well as the Customer's authorized user's right to access the Software.

10. FORCE MAJEURE

- 10.1 Neither Party is liable for any delay or defects because of circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the concerned Party (force majeure), including in the event of mobilization, war, natural disasters, strikes/lockouts, pandemic, restrictions concerning the use of power and/or communication lines, including power blackout and breakdown of communication lines, which the Party could not, within reason, have foreseen, avoided, or overcome. In the event of force majeure, the Parties' obligations are suspended as long the event is reasonably deemed to continue. Force majeure may only be claimed if the concerned Party has notified the other Party thereof no later than ten (10) days after the force majeure event has occurred.

11. NOTIFICATION OF BREACH AND IMMEDIATE TERMINATION

- 11.1 If a Party breaches its obligations under the Agreement, the other Party is, by registered mail or email, entitled to order the Party in breach to remedy the breach within ten (10) days from the time of receipt of the claim. If the Party in breach does not comply with the claim and if a material breach exists, the other Party is entitled to terminate the Agreement immediately and without further notice if the claim indicates that the breach was deemed a material breach.

- 11.2 If the Customer's payments are suspended, if the Customer enters negotiations for voluntary arrangements with creditors or compulsory arrangement with creditors or applies for reconstruction or is administered in bankruptcy, the Agreement may, notwithstanding clause 11.1, be terminated immediately without further penalty, obligation, or liability to the Supplier and without prior notice, unless otherwise dictated by mandatory law.

12. LIABILITY FOR VIOLATION OF THIRD-PARTY RIGHTS

- 12.1 The Supplier shall indemnify, defend, and hold the Customer harmless against any claims, actions, damages, losses, reasonable costs, and expenditures, including but not limited to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs, incurred by the Customer, because of any infringement or alleged infringement of any third-party patents, copyrights, trademarks, registered designs, or other intellectual property rights arising out of or relating to the Supplier's Software. If legal proceedings are initiated against the Supplier in which it is claimed that such violation of third-party rights exists, the Supplier shall inform the Customer thereof immediately. If a decision is concerning any third-party claim is made, the Supplier may choose to either (i) acquire the rights necessary for the continued lawful use of the Software or (ii) remedy the violation by changing or replacing the Software or parts thereof with a new or modified solution, which essentially functions as the Software, or (iii) terminate the Agreement against a proportionate refund of any prepaid service fee. In such a case, the Customer cannot make additional claims because of the termination or the violation.

12.2 The remedies made available to the Customer in clause 12 are the sole and exclusive remedies available to the Customer if the Software violates any third-party intellectual property rights.

13. LIMITATIONS TO THE LIABILITY OF THE SUPPLIER

13.1 The Customer acknowledges and agrees that the Supplier's Services are provided on an advisory basis and shall be received by the Customer as advice which the Customer shall decide if and how to use it. The Customer represents to be the only one responsible for the fulfilment of its obligations toward its competent authorities and the only one responsible for how to use the Supplier's advice, Products and Services.

13.2 Notwithstanding the provisions in the clause 12, the Supplier's obligation to compensate through damages and/or losses is subject to the following limitations:

13.2.1 The Supplier is at no time liable for and bears any part of the risk for the quality of any calculations, data classifications, work results, or output generated using the Software based on data submitted to the Software by or from the Customer and the Customer's authorized users.

13.2.2 The Supplier is also not liable and bears any part of the risk of the Customer's submission of its report(s) to the competent authorities. Preparation and time management of the reporting process is the Customer's exclusive and full responsibility of which the Supplier takes no part.

13.2.3 The Supplier is at no time obligated to compensate the Customer for any indirect or consequential damage or loss, including but not limited to loss of expected earnings, loss of data, expenses for remedial action of damage to or errors in data.

13.2.4 The Supplier shall only be liable for direct damages and/or losses to the Customer, and the maximum compensation the Supplier may be ordered to pay to the Customer under this Agreement, in aggregate, cannot exceed the amount paid by the Customer to the Supplier as fees for the Products and Services in the first contractual year (or during the first twelve contractual months), excluding any amount paid for requested Paid Support and/or Additional Services.

13.2.4.1 The Supplier shall be excluded from any liability, whatsoever, if the Customer does not comply with any of its deadlines for delivering documents and/or information to the Supplier. Such deadlines will be either specified in the applicable Order or Schedule(s) and/or will be agreed upon in writing between the Parties (usually by email).

13.3 The limitations of liability contained herein shall not apply to breaches by Supplier's indemnification obligations under clause 12 (the Supplier's violation of third party's intellectual property rights), above.

14. APPLICABLE LAW AND JURISDICTION

14.1 The Agreement is governed by Danish law, excluding its conflict of law provisions.

14.2 To the extent possible, the Parties must attempt to amicably resolve any dispute concerning the application or interpretation of the Agreement through negotiations. Disputes, which the Parties cannot amicably resolve, must be brought before the ordinary courts of Denmark with the Copenhagen City Court as an agreed venue with access to referral and appeal by the Danish Administration of Justice Act.

15.2 In the event of inconsistency between these General License Terms and the terms in the applicable Order, the terms in the Order take precedence over the General License Terms.

15.3 It is an element of a valid contract that both Parties sign the Agreement. Any further modification to this Agreement and/or further document must be signed by the Parties before it becomes binding.

15.4 Agreed modifications to this General License Terms will be placed in the applicable Order's Additional Terms as "Agreed Deviations".

16. ASSIGNMENT AND SUBCONTRACTORS

16.1 Considering the nature of the Product and Services agreed upon, the Customer is not entitled to assign any rights and obligations under the Agreement to any third party without the prior written consent of the Supplier, whether it is to third-party affiliated or not.

16.2 The Supplier is entitled to assign rights and obligations under the Agreement to any other company or legal entity affiliated with the Supplier at its own discretion. The Supplier will remain responsible for the Agreement towards the Customer.

- 16.3 The Supplier is entitled to assign rights and obligations under the Agreement as part of a transfer of the Supplier's business activities, in part or in full, irrespective that such transfer is made to a company or other legal entity not affiliated with the Supplier, in which case the Supplier agrees to inform the Customer, without undue delay.
